Athens Law Firm Paving the Way in Opioid Litigation Twenty-five Georgia Counties, Cities, Hospital Authorities on Board

ATHENS, Ga. – (April 20, 2018) – A law firm in Athens, Ga. is making big headlines across the State of Georgia in the fight against manufacturers and distributors of opioids, with more filings in the state than any other firm. Dozens of Georgia counties, cities, and hospital authorities have secured Blasingame, Burch, Garrard & Ashley, P.C. (BBGA) to represent them in lawsuits aimed at holding big pharmaceutical companies and distributors responsible for the ongoing opioid epidemic.

BBGA has filed lawsuits on behalf of Candler County, Candler County Hospital Authority, Athens-Clarke County, Oconee County, Crisp County, Jeff Davis County, Sumter County, Oglethorpe County, Hall County, Cook County, Madison County, Irwin County, Walton County, Decatur County, Banks County, Bulloch County, Twiggs County, Elbert County, City of Bainbridge, the Hospital Authority of the City of Bainbridge and Decatur County, Macon-Bibb County, the Clinch County Hospital Authority, City of Gainesville, the City of Tifton, and Habersham County.

Unlike other law firms involved in opioid litigation, BBGA will be lead counsel in representing its clients and all the lawsuits are filed in local jurisdictions. The firm is nationally recognized in MDL litigation in Georgia and across the country.

If you're interested in more information on individual cases in your region, contact BBGA Media Coordinator Allie Jackson to set up an interview with an attorney. Allie can be reached at (706) 354-4000.
